

No More Victims Portland is delighted to present David Smith-Ferri...

...activist, poet, and author of Battlefield without Borders which portrays his encounters with Iraqi people and the events that have shaped their lives over the last 8 years.

His multimedia presentation with poetry, stories and slides from trips to Iraq and Jordan brings the Iraqi people into our presence, focusing on both the human cost of the invasion/occupation and the effort by Iraqi people to resist its traumatic effects.

“I hope to portray the resilience, courage, and decency of the Iraqi people I’ve met. Everyday, Iraqi people – in Iraq and in exile – resist the degrading effects of violence and occupation, doing everything they can to care for themselves, their families, and their neighbors, and to provide a future for their children.”—David Smith-Ferri

Tuesday, February 26, 2008 at 7 pm

First Unitarian Church

SW 12th and Salmon

free admission • refreshments • sales of poetry books to benefit No More Victims for more information 503/234-3501 or www.nomorevictims.org

Five year old Mustafa is coming to Portland for medical treatment through No More Victims.